

NATHALIE CHAPADOS

With a bachelor's degree in psychology, Nathalie knew she wanted to be a stay-at-home mom to raise her children when she and her husband began talking about starting a family. As a mother of two, her passion for purebred cats began while searching for a special feline to complete the family.

Although a long-time cat person, she was new to the purebred cat world. She was enthralled - to say the least. One cat turned into two then three then four. The family acquired a sable Burmese named Sugar Bear, a Singapura girl named Mina, and a Birman named Angelo. A Maine Coon named Bouddha has joined the clowder - fulfilling darling Husband's childhood dream of owning one. Cats are definitely like potato chips, you can't just have one!
